In New your Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of firm must operation of this preparation of firm must operation of the preparation of this preparation of this preparation of the preparation of the preparation of the preparation of the most obstinate cases of costierness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Price, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant Castiveness. In unchacked Diarrhea, even when advanced to Dysenterry, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effect have been equally decisive and astonishing. In the local pains, loss offiesh and stength, debilitating cough, and remittent heetic, which generally indicate Incipient Constamption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians, in several verygratifying and interesting instances. In Scrofulous Tuberculous, this medicated iron has had far more than the good effect of the most cautionsly balanced preparations of induic, without any of their well inown hisbilities.

The attention of females cannot be too confidently invited to this remedy and restorative, in the cases peculiarly affecting them.

In Rhemmantson, both chronic and in fammatory—in the latter, however, more decidedly—it has been mariably well reported, both as alleviating pain and reducing the swellings and stiffness of the joints and muscles.

In latternitient Fevers, it must avees sarily be a great remedy and energetic restoration.

Can you inform one who takes us little interest in the prosperity of Newport, if any of these projected improvements are to be completed here? If the naked walls of the Codpieted derect in the naked walls of the Ood-dington are to be taken down; and a new and even larger mill erected in their place—and if there is ever to be another mill where the Woolen Mill formerly stood? Now is the time, while the markets of the world are demanding more goods, and prices are remunerative. Are we waiting for some foreign capital to come to our aid and build up there and add still more to our manufacturing interest? Or still more to our manuacturing interest? Or will our people welt until the good that part, till other and more enterprising places, by building mills, supply the demand? Imag-ine a mill in Newport employing a thousand hands, and calculate the benefits resulting to the whole community. And why cannot such the whole community. And why carnot such and one who is constantly inquiring constantly be erected here as well as at Lowell or cerning the faults of his neighbors and excerning their weaknesses and errors, should be shruned and despised by all who have on all around us, and very moar, too, yot we sleep on, as if Nature had not done more for Newport than for any other place! SCANDAL.

As the season is again drawing nigh when the departure of the summer visitors from our city will leave a certain portion of its 1 opulation little else to do than to assemble in back shops and on the street corners to discuss every body's affairs but their own, we subjoin the following extracts. from a capital article in the Boston Berald Misted States Motel. A. S. COPBLAND on this subject for their consideration:

A Young Lady Catches A Burglar.

Last Sunday night will be remembered as one the warmest of the season. A Last Sunday night will be remembered as one the warmest of the season. A young lady who possesses a considerable stock of timidity, was excessively lrightened at a little circumstance which occured at about the hour of midnight.—Aware that the "Circus boys" were in town, and believing them to be a set of graceless scamps who would as soon out a man's throat as *at a breakfast, *he had retired to hix couch half expecting to be inhumanly butchered by some of them before morning. It was about midnight when the young lady was roused from her troubled slumber by hearing a noise at the window. Half unclosing her eyes, she was standard by the sich. troubled sumber by hearing a noise at the window. Half unclosing her eyes, she was startled by the sight et a corpulent form, apparently strugging to gain admission to her window. It struck her at once that the intruder had been caught by the rear of his unmentionables, by a nail or some other sharp instrument, as he seemed to be struggling with a stern determination to enter. Her first thought was to faith, her scond, to give the fallow a push: her third, to imm out of the struck of the struck in the region of the structure of ton to enter. Her first thought was to faint, her second, to give the fellow a push; her third, to jump out of the window as soon as he jumped in; her fourth, to scream—which she immediately eard into effect.
